Big Demand for Credit in This Area

The Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Louis, through its 45 production credit associations in Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas, had the greatest demand for credit for any year in its history at the end of the fiscal period ending June 30, 1967, according to T.O. Porter, Director of Nashville Production Credit Association.

Mr. Porter recently returned from the annual Production Credit Association's Directors Conference held in St. Louis. Directors of the Nashville Association who also attended the conference included: Barney Smith, Nashville; Bobby Carroll, Murfreesboro; J.F. Bell, Mineral Springs; John McLelland, Prescott; and field manager, Benny Coleman of its Hope office.

Total credit extended for the year in the sixth Farm Credit District amounted to $851,733, 202, as stated in a report made to the directors by Stanley A. Morrow, President of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank. It was also pointed out that there should be sufficient capital to meet the farmer's needs during the coming year. Interest cost, however are not likely to go down.

Also appearing on the program was Robert B. Tootell, Governor of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D.C., who heads up all 12 farm credit districts in the United States.

With more and more credit being used as a major tool in farming, farm debt has increased sharply—from $10.7 billion in 1950 to $45 billion at the start of 1967.

But despite this increase in farm debt, Tootell said, it amounts to only 16 per cent of farm assets and is much lower than 35 per cent ratio found in many European countries.

The Nashville Production Credit Association does business with farmers in Howard, Hempstead, Pike, Sevier, Nevada, Clark and Hot Spring counties. Mr. Porter states that PCA loaned $4,687,923.00 to farmers in Hempstead County in 1966.

Lone Star Blast Due to Faulty Fuse
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Feb. 15 explosion that killed 11 persons and injured 14 others at the Lone Star Army Ammunition Depot at Texarkana, Tex., may have been caused by a malfunctioning fuse, the Pentagon said Thursday.

A five-man investigative board appointed by the Army's Ammunition Procurement and Supply Agency at Joliet, Ill., reported that Army-approved procedures and specifications "were in effect and were being enforced" at the plant at the time of the explosion, but that the assembly methods could have caused the fuse to go off.

The board said portions of the evidence needed to pinpoint the exact cause had been destroyed in the blast.

Says Illegal Dealings Were Not Found

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Thursday that he had been aware of the Burch Corp. for several months, but that an investigation still underway had failed to turn up any illegal dealings.

The corporation, which has several stockholders who are members of the Rockefeller administration, agreed April 1, to help with the sale of Continental Securities Corp., stock. State Securities Director Don S. Smith directed Continental Wednesday to offer to buy back any of the $100,000 worth of stock sold to the public since that date.

The governor said he thought the administration personnel might have gotten involved in the promotion without realizing that it could reflect adversely on his administration.

"It struck me that it may have been an error of judgment," Rockefeller told newsmen.

He said he would wait until all the facts were in before deciding whether any action would be necessary.

The governor said the state was overcommitted under the Revenue Stabilization Act and probably did not have the money to undertake any of the sweeping changes that are expected to evolve from various study commissions on state government.

Rockefeller said he did not contemplate any request for a tax increase, but that he still planned to call a special session of the legislature in January.

He said he probably would include in his call a proposal for an independent management audit of the state Highway Department, but that he still saw "no sense" in including the proposed merger of the University of Arkansas and Little Rock University.

Rockefeller said he expected now that he would need an "evidence officer" as well as a referee in the hearing he hopes to call in an attempt to oust some members of the state Game and Fish Commission for "wrongdoing."

Would Not Object to WR Action

STAMPS, Ark. (AP) — Rep. Gladys Martin Oglesby of Stamps said Thursday that she hoped to introduce a bill in the 1969 General Assembly to abolish capital punishment, but that she would have no objection if Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller included such a measure in his call for a special session of the legislature in January.

"I am trying to iron out some of the objectionable features of the bill, and there are others who have said they would like to co-sponsor a bill with me," she said. "But if he wants to bring it up in a special session, it's all right with me."

Mrs. Oglesby, who introduced an unsuccessful capital punishment bill in the 1967 legislature, said she and the governor had discussed such a bill during a legislative dinner at Camden Wednesday.

Cuts were $150 million from the development loan program, $72 million from the alliance for progress and $25 million from the President's contingency fund.

Another $60 million for support of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was chopped out after members were told they already had authorized the money in a separate bill passed earlier.

Despite the deep cuts, administration forces weren't totally without success.

Slaved off were bids to pare $120 million from the support assistance program, and an additional $70 million from the Alliance for Progress, the program conceived by President John F. Kennedy to aid Latin American countries.

But the Democratic leadership was turned back in an attempt to restore a second-year authorization for the Alliance for Progress in a bill introduced Wednesday by an amendment.

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-SC., of the Armed Services Committee sponsored the cut in NATO funds, approved 148 to 78.

The House also adopted by voice vote an amendment by Rep. Benethal, D-N.Y., to ban military aid of troops from nations that have broken diplomatic ties with the United States.

The move is aimed at those Arab countries which broke relations during the Middle East crisis. Some 426 soldiers from such Arab nations currently are receiving training in the United States.

The House also voted 236 to 157 to eliminate from the bill a section granting the government additional authority to sell arms to foreign nations, but did not put any curbs on existing authority for such sales.

The Senate version would revoke existing authority for the arms sales, defended by the administration as a key section of its foreign policy.

Mining Stock Exchange Is Closed

By LEONARD MILLIMANV SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Penny stocks are scrambling to other Western markets from the deathbed of their true love, the San Francisco Mining Exchange.

The romantic little old lady died Aug. 15, at age 105.

Since the Gold Rush days she had wooed speculators with a gambler's chance to make a fortune, or lose one. Her's was the lure of gold, silver, copper, uranium at the penny arcade prices of mining companies trying to make a name and a mint.

She died impoverished, almost deserted and in disgrace.

But her passing was mourned by a handful of followers. They came for days after the close to sit facing the empty green chart boards in room 200 at 256 Montgomery Street.

Thirty-one mining companies stayed until the end, then hurried away to seek listings on exchanges in Salt Lake City, Spokane, Calgary, Vancouver, or Pacific Coast Stock Exchange in San Francisco and Los Angeles, or to establish a market in over-the-counter trading.

On the last day only two brokers remained. Business had dwindled from $8 million in 1956, during a uranium revival, to $2 million last year to $725,000 for the six months this year.

The glamour of the mining exchange began fading at the end of the California gold fever a century ago.

The death knell was sounded in 1962 by the Securities Exchange Commission, the government agency which polices stock and bond markets. In its first move of the kind, the SEC threatened to lift the mining exchange's franchise.

The SEC charged, among other things, that the exchange was attempting to distribute "substantially worthless" securities; that there were irregularities involving 16 of the 42 companies then listed; and that the SEC had to step in and stop trading in 27 securities between 1934 and 1962.

For five years the exchange fought back. But volume "diminished to the point where further operation is not feasible," said President George J. Flach in announcing that the exchange would close.

Air Losses Lower Than Other Wars

By BOB HORTON AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say the rate of U.S. aircraft losses in Vietnam is lower than those of Korea and World War II. They credit improved flying tactics and new electronic countermeasures.

Military spokesmen contend recent fighter and bomber losses around Hanoi are not out of line with the number of raids being flown there.

Between Sunday and Thursday, the United States lost 12 planes in operations over North Vietnam—a near record for a single week.

But officers point out that during this period U.S. pilots have staged more than 800 missions involving perhaps as many as 3,200 separate flights against targets heavily shielded by North Vietnam's air defenses.

The Pentagon does not disclose numbers of individual flights, or sorties, flown over the North.

The military rule of thumb is that each mission involves 3.5 to 4 planes, on the average.

Communist guns, surface-to-air missiles and MIG fighters so far this year have knocked down U.S. planes at the rate of 1.6 per thousand sorties.

This compares with 2.2 per thousand in 1966, 3.2 in 1965 when the air campaign was launched, 3.5 during Korea and 9 per thousand during World War II.

To date the North Vietnamese have downed 659 American planes which cost this country an estimated $1.3 billion.

The number of U.S. raids on the North and the number of anti-aircraft weapons deployed in North Vietnam each have quadrupled since 1965.

Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force Chief of Staff, says the Hanoi-Haliphong area presents "the greatest concentration of anti-aircraft weapons that has ever been known in the history of defense in any town or any area in the world."

In 1965 the North Vietnamese had about 2,100 anti-aircraft guns, plus 26 to 28 battalions armed with 6 to 8 missiles each.

Latest intelligence credits the enemy with 8,000 weapons, supplied by the Soviet Union and Red China. The number of missile units remains about the same—26 to 28 battalions, rotated among more than 150 missile firing sites in North Vietnam.

The surface-to-air missiles have hit 75 American planes in 3,500 attempts. But the long, slender missiles force U.S. pilots into evasive maneuvers and down into intense flak.

North Vietnam's MIG fleet, regarded as a minimal threat, has grown only slightly since American raids on three of the country's major fields last spring.

Girl Has Two Very Hard Jobs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PARIS, Ohio (AP)—Martha Heinrich, slender, single and 22-years-old, has two jobs—farmer and truckdriver. "I'd rather wear out than rust out sitting around," she says. During the summer she farms 313 acres turning out about 300 head of cattle a year. When things slow down in the winter she jumps in the cab of a tractor-trailer and hauls steel around the country. "I've seen no disrespect from men despite my competing with them," she says. "I try to act like a lady and that usually results in even rough, tough truck drivers treating me like a lady."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
DEL MAR, Calif. (AP)—On a clear day, Desi Arnaz can see the horizon line of the blue Pacific from the terrace of his beach home here—and, even on a foggy morning, he can spot neighbor Jimmy Durante studying the form sheets of a nearby race track.

Arnaz, who with his second wife, the former Edie Mack Hirsch, breeds and races thoroughbreds, is thinking less these days about buying alfalfa and selling yearlings and more about his first professional love: television.

After a three-year retirement and two years of developing a pair of shows, Arnaz suffered a setback when both were abandoned.

One—however, was rescued. "The Mothers-in-Law," and will be seen by the public in a couple of weeks. Developed for CBS with CBS money—"They gave me $180,000—I don't believe in making an expensive pilot, partly because everyone involved gets about five times as much to do it as they would ordinarily." The snapper to the Arnaz comeback story is that his show will turn up on NBC.

"I think it's honest comedy," he said with a shrug. "I guess somebody at CBS didn't like it. But I think you have to do something that you like, and then you have to find the right writers and actors who can play it. You start out to do something you think is fun. Then the public will judge. And if we are wrong, well, nuts, I'll go back to the horse ranch."

He is still convinced that the only way to achieve his ideal of television comedy is by using the technique of filming it while the cast is performing each show like a short play before a studio audience.

"You just can't fake these laughs we get," he said. "Hell, they are still using some of those old 'I Love Lucy' laughs as tracks for shows they are making today. Charlie Pomerantz—once the 'Lucy' press agent—and Dee-Dee-Desiree Ball, Lucy's mother—used to come to all the shows, and we all got to know the sound of their laughs. Just the other night I was watching a show and all of a sudden I heard Charlie and Dee-Dee laughing."

Since Desi went back to television, Arnaz and his second wife have added a third home—an apartment in remodeled offices in one of the Desilu studios which Desi ruled when he was married to Lucille Ball. Now gray-haired, heavier and frankly 50, he is just another of the studio lessees.

Immigration to U.S. Is Illustrated

LONDON (AP)—If you are American with an English, Irish, Scottish or Welsh name and have ancestors who came to the United States in 1800-75, you owe them a lot.

The debt is illustrated in two rooms of graphic history just opened at Britain's Maritime Museum at Greenwich. It shows in stark reality how 7½ million immigrants crossed the Atlantic westward during the 19th century.

"It was," says Cmdr. W. E. May, deputy director of the museum, "The greatest migration man has ever made."

Many of the voyagers never made it to bear American and Canadian offspring. Most of the ships were unbelievably tiny, some just 50 feet long.

Says a chunk of notes from the diary of a man who greeted one of those ships, the Airtly Castle: "Two hundred fifty-four passengers had been packed in the hold or steerage. Some had gone ashore when I got there. What I saw was—about 200 human beings, male and female, young and old and middle-aged, talking, singing, laughing, crying, eating, drinking, shaving, washing, some naked in bed and others dressing, handsome young women (some) and ugly old men."

Cmdr. May comments: "In the early part of the great migration and especially during the Irish famine, conditions on shipboard were frequently appalling even by the standards of the 19th century."

"The records show that the deaths during the voyage were highest among the Irish, for they dragged themselves aboard suffering from malnutrition and some were dying as they sailed."

Two photographs show the immigration ships Peter and Sarah. Both were built in 1809 and the picture was taken in 1859. Neither ship exceeded 50 feet in length.

Some of the ships were packed with humans to the point that it is difficult to understand how the crews were able to sail them.

"Here you can see records of 300 and 400 people sailing in one ship," said Cmdr. May. "Yet the casualties were not as high as one might think."

The descriptions at the exhibition—all in bold type—pull no punches.

"They emigrated for many reasons," says one. "More than half of them were rich, driven out by poverty, and the great famines of the 1840s. Many were Scots, forced by overpopulation and the policy of their landlords to escape conditions such as you see here."

Below are etchings of miserable huts, floors of damp earth, their roofs leaky.

Another etching depicts 25-30 persons jammed in huge carts leaving for ships to the New World. The description reads: "People poor, sometimes prosperous and even rich left in thousands, leaving their villages

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

A ROMANTIC POET

Dear Helen: I am a boy of 15, trying to get a girl of 15 to notice me. Our interests are much the same, we like sports and the same type of music and dancing. She is friendly, but not girl friendly.

I've heard one way to win a girl is by writing romantic poems and letters to her. I'm a bit of a poet, so wondered if a guy could still be successful this way, like in Lord Byron's day. — A POET AT HEART

Dear Poet: I'm afraid romantic poems to a 15-year-old girl would be like hand-kissing to an American woman. She'd react with a flustered giggle, and wonder if you were putting her on. Now, humorous poetry is a verse of a different color. Gals love it, and they'll probably send you rhymed answers. Here's an example, from a girl in the East.

I turn on the phone, I answer the light,
When I wake in the morning,
I say, "Good night,"
I brush my nails, and I file my hair.

I ride my shoes, I polish my mare.
When I wash the records, the dishes are playing
So you can see, it follows the saying:
"Love makes the world go — 'Bol-i-l-ug!' " — H.

Dear Helen: Could you give me some information on pen pals and how to get them? — CATHY

Dear Cathy: Send 35 cents to WORLD PEN PALS, World Affairs Center, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn., 554-55, giving your name, age, address, and two preferences in countries. Letters to Asia and Africa are especially wanted. — H

Dear Helen: So many girls wonder whether they should wait for their guys in Vietnam, or go out with other fellows, even if they expect to marry their service-man later on. I know it's a long wait, but, after all, HE has it rough too.

I was 17 when I promised to wait for a boy. He was stationed in Germany for two and one-half years. During that time we wrote almost every day, and we got to know each other even better through our letters. I kept in touch with his family, too, and that helped.

I was a senior during part of that time, and missed out on dates and the prom. Some of my friends thought I was foolish. But I really didn't miss much. I had lots of friends and went places with the girls. I also joined a club for boys and girls my own age, and became very active in it; and I worked hard on my studies. Now we are married, and much closer because we tested our love with waiting. No, I'm not "an-ient" yet, I'll be 21 about the time our first baby is born. — MRS. D. N.

Dear Helen: I am planning to have a "couple" party in a few weeks, and want to send written invitations. The problem is, do I send the invitation to the home of the boy or to the home of his girlfriend? I'll invite only steadies. — KIM

Dear Kim: Why not ask the couples to your party next time you see them together, or use the telephone?

If you MUST write it, then send an invitation to each boy and girl—something like, "I'm having a party Tuesday . . . and hope you and (name of steady) can come . . ." And HOPE they're still steadies by that time. — H

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain watching television in the wait-trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address: Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star, Copyright, 1967, Inc.

Mother of 6 Gives Birth to Quads

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 34-year-old mother of six children gave birth early today to quadruplet boys in DePaul Hospital.

Dr. Nicholas C. Correnti, the attending physician, said the mother, Mrs. Richard Kahrenkrog of St. Louis County, and her sons were in good condition. The first child was delivered, Correnti said, at 1:03 a.m., and weighed 5 pounds, 2 ounces. The second arrived at 1:42 a.m. weighing 4 pounds, 7 ounces; the third at 1:45 weighed 4 pounds, 3 ounces, and the fourth at 1:47 weighed 5 pounds, 1 ounce.

The Kahrenkrogs' other children—three boys and three girls—range from one to nine years of age. The father is an electrical engineer.

Correnti said, "The father predicted that they would all be boys, but we thought there would be at least one or two girls. We tried to call Lloyds of London and make a bet on his hunch, but we waited too long."

The father, "overjoyed," was reported by Correnti as calmly watching television in the waiting room during the births.

Yanks Drop Sox, Boston Is Closer

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Eddie Stanky doesn't need Hubert H. Humphrey. And he can get along without Bill Monbouquette, too.

The Chicago White Sox manager held forth at great length after his club was blanked on five hits by Monbouquette Thursday and lost to the New York Yankees 5-0. The defeat dropped the Sox into a virtual tie with Boston for the American League lead.

Earlier Thursday, Stanky barred the clubhouse door in Bloomington, Minn., after a game with the Twins, thereby unwittingly keeping out the vice president, who, thought a Twins' fan, wanted to pay his respects.

Stanky sent a telegram of apology, but when asked about the incident Thursday, said, "Humphrey can't hit. What do I want with him?"

The White Sox couldn't do much hitting either against Monbouquette, who, after being released by Detroit in May, spent three weeks frustratingly trying to catch on with every major league team before the Yankees took a chance that has been paying off handsomely ever since.

Monbouquette has pitched well in relief, but in making his first start against Chicago, he was superb. The league leaders managed only five hits and only one of them went out of the infield.

In other American League games, the Red Sox beat Washington 7-5, Minnesota took Detroit 4-2 and Cleveland edged California 2-1. Baltimore and Kansas City were not scheduled.

In the National League, St. Louis blanked San Francisco 2-0, Houston beat Atlanta 5-4 in 10 innings and Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 4-3 in 10 innings. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia were rained out and Chicago and New York were unscheduled.

Charley Smith, the man who came when Roger Maris went to St. Louis, blasted two two-run homers for the Yankees.

Elston Howard hit his first homer in a Boston uniform, a three-run shot in the seventh inning that led the Sox to within a point of the league lead. Chicago's percentage is .561 to Boston's .560.

Jerry Adair and Jim Landis also homered for the Red Sox who won 10 out of 12 in their current home stand. The Senators scored three times in the ninth before John Wyatt came in to get the final out.

Harmon Killebrew's 34th homer broke a tie in the eighth inning and the Twins scored again in the ninth on Ted Uhlaender's run-scoring single to cement the victory and sole possession of third place, half a game behind Chicago and Boston. The Tigers are in fourth, 1½ games out.

Phil Slugger Allen Out for Season

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies' slugging third baseman Rich Allen will be out of action the rest of the season, after accidentally cutting two tendons on his right hand and wrist Thursday night.

The all-star slugger was pushing his car at home here when he accidentally shoved the hand through a headlight, cutting the two tendons and severing a nerve.

He was admitted to the operating room at Temple University Hospital, where two orthopedic surgeons and a neurosurgeon worked on the hand over a period of nearly five hours.

The doctors said Allen's hand would be in a cast at least six weeks and that if the healing was normal, he will not have any difficulty in grasping a bat or ball.

Pro Football Game Here 8 p.m. Sat.

The Texarkana Titans tapered off Thursday as they look toward Saturday night and their first football game of the year in Hope, Ark., against the Shreveport Trojans at 8 p.m.

The team worked in shorts, going over assignments on offense and defense and hearing a scouting report on the Trojans. "They just line up and run right at you," reports Coach Tom Collins. "They're big and they're strong."

This will be Shreveport's third ball game of the year. The Trojans lost their opening game of the year 23-20 to a veteran Sherman-Denison team of the Texas League.

Last Saturday the Trojans went down to Monroe, a talented team, 20-17. Monroe jumped into a 13-0 lead in the first half and then had to fight off Shreveport onslaught.

The Trojans are loaded with veteran players. Among them are former pro players Charles Washington 200, John B. Ilberry, 253, and Bob Burton, 210.

Washington had a shot with the Pittsburgh Steelers while Ilberry played with Los Angeles and Burton saw action with the Boston Patriots and Houston Oilers.

Three other Shreveport players, Charlie Shackelford, Larry Courtney and Ronnie Newberry, have played semi-pro ball. The Trojans biggest lineman is defensive tackle Dan Baker, a 6-8, 355 pounder from Southeast Oklahoma State.

Texarkana's defensive unit also has plenty of beef and experience. The defensive front four will probably be Grady Anthony, 6-4, 279, Ben Anthony, 6-3, 275, Bob Harbison, 6-0, 250, and John Bailey, 6-7, 286.

Working out at linebacker have been Travis Mauldin, 6-0, 208, former University of Arkansas star, Richard Kyles, 6-0, 215 and Emmitt Wilbanks, 6-2, 225.

Collins has been rotating the defensive halfbacks with nine players getting a close look. "We'll play everyone a good deal," says Collins. "We'll use these first two exhibition games to take a look at everyone and find out who wants to play."

Offensively the Titans big threats will be fullback McCoy Murphy, a 250-pounder, and end Jack Mills, a 200-pounder. Murphy, former Grambling College player, has been timed at 5.4 in the 50-yard dash. Mills played with Orlando in the Continental League last year, snagging 94 passes before injuring a shoulder.

The starting quarterback slot is still undecided with four candidates getting a close look. Battling for the starting job are Fig Coleman, Ken Stuart, Jim Lott and Clarence Shaw. Lott, former Arkansas High quarterback, played at Southern State. Coleman played at Liberty. Eyllau while Stuart played at Atlanta and Shaw was an All-Stater at McKee High School in Prescott.

Stuart was a standout at Atlanta, Texas High School and then played basketball at Abilene Christian College. The squad is down to 41 and Collins said that he will make one more cut after the next exhibition game Sept. 2 against Lake Charles at Hooks. The team must be cut to 35 before the first Southern Conference game.

Bob Smith Hopes He Has Enough Left

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Bob Smith says it's nice to be Western Amateur medalist and he'd like to win the title again, but the hot-shooting Californian hopes he has plenty left for his first National Amateur next week.

"This is the first time I've ever qualified for the Amateur," said the 24-year-old Sacramento public relations man Thursday after charging home with a 67-69 for a 280, 8 under par.

"The Amateur is the only big amateur tourney I haven't had a shot at," said Smith, the 1965 Western champ and two-time Porter Cup winner.

Rodney Horn, 28, of Prairie Village, Kan., who was only four strokes from the top in the 1965 National Amateur, was the hottest shooter on the Milburn Country Club course as he fired 13 birdies in a 67-66 finish for a 283.

Horn and Ron Cerrudo, Smith's traveling buddy on the amateur swing, tied for second at 283. Next at 286 was Curtis Sifford of Los Angeles.

Cardinals Shut Out the Giants

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Billy McCool hesitated and the Cincinnati Reds were lost.

McCool, working in relief in the 10th inning against Los Angeles Thursday night, waited a moment too long before deciding what to do with Jim Lefebvre's sacrifice bunt and the Reds wound up on the short end of a 4-3 score.

Gary Nolan was working on a three-hitter and leading 3-0 going into the ninth inning against the Dodgers. But three straight hits by Lefebvre, Al Ferrara and Wes Parker followed by two errors tied the score for Los Angeles.

An inning later, Lou Johnson opened with a double. Lefebvre bunted and McCool fielded the ball, looked towards third, hesitated, and threw to first. But Lefebvre beat the play.

An intentional walk to Ferrara loaded the bases and after Parker popped out, Bob Bailey singled Johnson home with the winning run.

In the only other National League games played Thursday, Houston edged Atlanta 5-4 in 10 innings and St. Louis blanked San Francisco 2-0. Pittsburgh's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

In the American League, New York shut out Chicago 5-1, Cleveland edged California 2-0, Minnesota dropped Detroit 4-2, and Boston whipped Washington 7-5.

The Reds nicked Dodger starter Don Sutton for a pair of first inning runs and added another in the third. With Nolan breezing, the margin looked safe, and until the ninth, it was.

But Lefebvre opened with a single and Ferrara doubled. Parker's hit brought one run across and Lee Mays high throw on the relay allowed another to score. Then Tony Perez booted a grounder as Parker carried the tying run across.

Doug Rader drove in three runs with three hits and a sacrifice fly for Houston but the hero was Sonny Jackson, whose 10th-inning single scored Ron Brandt with the winning run.

Brandt had been hit by a Jay Ritchie pitch with two out and raced to third on Julio Gotay's double. Ramon Hernandez relieved for the Braves and Jackson singled the winning run home.

Bob Tolan and winning pitcher Dick Hughes stroked ninth-inning singles that drove in the winning runs for St. Louis against San Francisco and beat Gaylord Perry.

Tim McCarver singled opening the Cardinal ninth and moved to second on a sacrifice. Julian Javier was intentionally walked and Tolan and Hughes followed with their hits.

Hughes, 13-4, hurled a four-hitter and was never in trouble against the Giants.

Commissioner Steps Into KC Squabble

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert, promising "appropriate action at a later date," has stepped into the squabble between the Kansas City Athletics and their volatile owner, Charles O. Finley.

Eckert acknowledged Thursday that he had received a request from the Major League Players Association that he hold a hearing on the dispute which has resulted in the firing of Alvin Dark as Athletics' manager and the release of first baseman Ken Harrelson.

Eckert said, "I am gathering appropriate data on the subject and will take further appropriate action at a later date."

The letter was sent by Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association. The Athletics, in the meantime, returned home to Kansas City Thursday and were met at the airport by about 1,000 fans, many carrying signs criticizing Finley and backing the players.

The confrontation arose last week when Finley suspended pitcher Lew Krausse for a drinking incident on a plane. The players released a statement criticizing Finley and, in the aftermath, Dark was fired and Harrelson was released.

Krausse was later reinstated and Finley's demand that the players retract their statement was refused.

Two Year Olds in Racing Spotlight

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two-year-olds move back into thoroughbred racing's spotlight Saturday with members of the top echelon scheduled to start in the 6½ furlongs of the $75,000-added Hopeful, winding up the four-week meeting at Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Saratoga officials look for a field of 11, making the 63rd running of the Hopeful worth $115,475 with $75,058 ticketed for the winner.

Off past performances the winner figures to come from a contingent composed of Thomas LeClair's Subpet, who was made a supplementary entry at a cost of $7,500 after winning Monmouth Park's Sapling; the Harbor View Farm entry of unbeaten Bold Native and once-defeated Exclusive Native, and What a Pleasure from Mrs. H.C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable.

Trainer Eddie Nely thought of sending the highly regarded Vitrolite out as a running mate for What a Pleasure, whose only setback was by Subpet in the Sapling. But he changed his mind and shipped Vitrolite to Chicago to prepare for the $300,000 plus Washington-Arlington Futurity at Arlington Park Sept. 9.

Three-year-olds will occupy the leading spots in the other top events, with Arlington Park featuring the 1 1-16 miles on the grass of the $50,000-added Laurence Armour Handicap.

The flashy Barb's Delight, surprise runner-up in the May 6 running of the Kentucky Derby and recent winner of the Assault at Arlington in a sizzling time of 1:33 2-5 for one mile, heads the Armour Handicap field, Diplomat Way, who scored his biggest victory at Arlington in taking last year's rich Futurity, also is a probable starter along with well-regarded Tumble Wind.

That Tensi can assist Saban as a junior partner in miracle making became obvious only three days after the third-year pro joined the Broncos.

Coming off the bench, Tensi fired the Broncos to a 14-9 triumph over Minnesota, their second victory in two games against National League opponents. No other AFL team can make that statement.

Tensi is part of the new image Saban has been working on since he returned to the AFL after a year's hiatus at the University of Maryland.

"We had to create a new image," Saban said. "They've had problems here, and they haven't been able to win. We may not win any more, but we're not going to lose with the same faces."

That's for sure. Since taking over, Saban has third largest city in Canada.

Montebello, Calif. (AP) — Mike McKeever, former football star at University of Southern California, died Thursday night in Montebello Convalescent Hospital.

McKeever, 27, had lain unconscious and in critical condition since he was injured in an automobile accident Dec. 3, 1965.

Trojan football Coach John McKay described McKeever as "the best defensive lineman I've seen at USC. A tremendous football player."

Mike's twin, Marlin, was a star end of the Los Angeles Rams pro football team. Survivors included Mike's widow, Judy.

Broncos Are Making Like Great Team

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER (AP) — Apparently, whatever Lou wants, Lou gets. Lou is Lou Saban, the new general manager-coach of the Denver Broncos, and just three weeks ago he said:

"Sid has what I want." Less than two weeks later, Saban had what Sid Gillman, general manager and coach of the San Diego Chargers, had and what Lou wanted — quarterback Steve Tensi.

Saban wanted Tensi because neither of his quarterbacks, Scotty Glacken and Max Chobolan, had convinced him that they were ready to solve the quarterback problems of the Broncos who had a 4-10 record last year.

Saban had to give Sid Denver's No. 1 draft choice for the next two years, but the Bronco boss already has a lot of youngsters, and he needed a quarterback to become competitive with the rest of the American Football League's Western Division.

That Tensi can assist Saban as a junior partner in miracle making became obvious only three days after the third-year pro joined the Broncos.

Coming off the bench, Tensi fired the Broncos to a 14-9 triumph over Minnesota, their second victory in two games against National League opponents. No other AFL team can make that statement.

Tensi is part of the new image Saban has been working on since he returned to the AFL after a year's hiatus at the University of Maryland.

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Jim Colbert, a bright-eyed young Kansan, took a long, hard look at his position in the $250,000 Westchester Classic Golf Tournament, gulped once and admitted: "I feel a little uncomfortable."

Mason Rudolph squinted through his thick glasses, added up his scorecard again and said: "I feel like I ought to play a couple of more holes. I'm not used to stopping at 66."

The 26-year-old Colbert, who went to Kansas State on a football scholarship and abandoned it for golf, cut out a careful 66, six-under-par, for a share of the first round lead Thursday with Rudolph and South African Gary Player.

They had a one-stroke lead on U. S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus, Bob Charles of New Zealand and John Schlee, all at 57.

Locked at 68, just two strokes back, were Lee Trevino, a club pro from El Paso, Tex., steady Frank Beard of Louisville, Ky., who went 84 holes before getting a bogey, Dave Hill and 55-year-old Sam Snead.

As usual, however, most of the gallery of 17,031 charged and screamed after Arnold Palmer, the all-time leading money winner. And their biggest cheer came when the muscular slammer from Latrobe, Pa., saved an indifferent round with a birdie-eagle finish that got him home with a 69.

In all, 68 of the field of 154 matched or bettered the par 72 at the compact, 6,573-yard Westchester Country Club course, even though a number of them including Nicklaus—complained that the grass in the fairways is too long.

Rudolph had five birdies, a bogey and an eagle, reaching the par five fifth in two and running in a 35-foot putt.

Player confined his six birdies to a string of eight holes and didn't have a bogey. Colbert, a pro for only two years, also had six birdies—two on putts of more than 25 feet—and didn't have a bogey. He just missed on three more birdies, with putts spinning out of the cup on the fifth, sixth and seventh holes.

dealt away nine players while acquiring 13. Gone are such faces as receiver Lionel Taylor, running back Abner Haynes and linebacker John Bramlett. Chobolan also was released. Arrived are other faces such as Cookie Gilchrist, Dave Costa, Rec Mirich and Ernie Park.

Other additions include the best rookie crop the Broncos ever have had — Floyd Little, Pete Duranko, Tom Beer, George Goeddeke and Mike Current, among others.

Little is battling Charlie Mitchell for the running back spot, while Gilchrist, a fullback for Saban when they were at Buffalo, could win that job from Wendell Hayes.

Beer takes over at tight end which was left vacant when Al Denson switched to flanker. Mirich, Current, Park and Goeddeke could become fixtures in the interior of the offensive line, and Costa, Duranko and rookie John Huard will help the defense which also includes returning backs Lonnie Wright, Goldie Sellers and Nemeah Wilson.

Saban is particularly concerned with the lines. "You can't throw passes, and you can't stop anyone from throwing passes unless you have the lines," he said. "We went to the lines first. That was the reason for some of the trades."

"But we're also counting on our young players. We're starting with them, and we'll stay with them. If we find something better, we'll make a change."

Saban, however, is mostly interested in making a change in the fortunes of the Broncos.

Vancouver, B.C., is the third largest city in Canada.

Montebello, Calif. (AP) — Mike McKeever, former football star at University of Southern California, died Thursday night in Montebello Convalescent Hospital.

GENERAL COMMENT—Despite sometimes-turbulent front office situation and a lot of coming-and-going of the talent, Dolphins seem to be making on-the-field progress. Main trouble will be overcome if an assertive field general emerges to lead them.

OFFENSE

PASSING—Throw four names into a pot—Rick Norton, John Stofa, Don Britten, Bob Griese—and you still might not have a finished broth of a quarterback. On leadership, Griese should eventually forge ahead. Rating—C

RECEIVING—Those close to team expect Howard Twilley, rookie Jack Clancy to wind up with outside spots. Not because they have most natural talent or experience—Bob Robinson, Frank Jackson top them in those departments—but intangible desire. Dave Kocurek gets help from Preston Carpenter at tight end. RUNNING—Not all-imposing. Sam Price, minor disappointment year ago, lines up with Joe Auer, last year's rushing leader (almost by default). Abner Haynes still trying to recapture spark he had half-dozen years ago. Billy Joy, George Chesser are just a couple of bodies. Rating—C+

Arkansas Wins Over the Spurs

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Righthander Sal Campisi went all the way for Arkansas Thursday night, striking out three, walking one and giving up just three hits as the Travelers picked up a 2-0 Texas League victory over the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs.

Campisi, who ran his record to 9-3, permitted singles by Don Fumal and Frank Reburger in the fifth and a lead-off single by Chuck Benson in the ninth. Jim Procopio doubled with a pop fly in the second inning, then came home on a single by Art Deras.

Reburger, the loser, permitted Arkansas to score again in the fifth after singles by Bob Bonalewicz and Jose Arcla, plus an infield grounder.

On some occasions it should be easy to see that a squeeze may be developing and to find a lead to break it up.
 South won the heart opening in his own hand and led his three of spades. Dummy's jack lost to East's ace and East made the safe (?) lead of a heart. South proceeded to run off five club tricks. He discarded the six of spades and queen of diamonds from dummy.
 West was one of those players who might be described as poor but honest. His first discard was the nine of diamonds; his second the three of diamonds and his third the four of diamonds. All these presented no problem but when South led a heart to dummy West had to make a fourth discard. This turned out to be sheer torture but eventually he played his eight

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Each year, 44 whooping cranes migrate 2,500 miles from Canada to Texas in the fall and back again in the spring. Carefully guarded now, these graceful white birds with long, thin, black legs and black-tipped wings have been close to extinction. In 1939, The World Almanac says, they numbered as few as 14.

of diamonds like a man losing his last tooth.

South noted all this. He cashed dummy's two high spades; led the seven of diamonds, rose with his ace and made his slam.

East was indignant with West. "Couldn't you have played your diamonds in the order 3-4-8-9 and without showing any worry? In that case declarer would probably have finessed and gone down two."

East's criticism was justified but if we were looking for a culprit we would have to choose East. When East was in with the ace of spades he should have seen that the only way to set the slam would be if West held the king of diamonds and a spade stopper and East should have led a diamond and broken up the squeeze before it had a chance to develop.

V-Balloon Idea Dawns

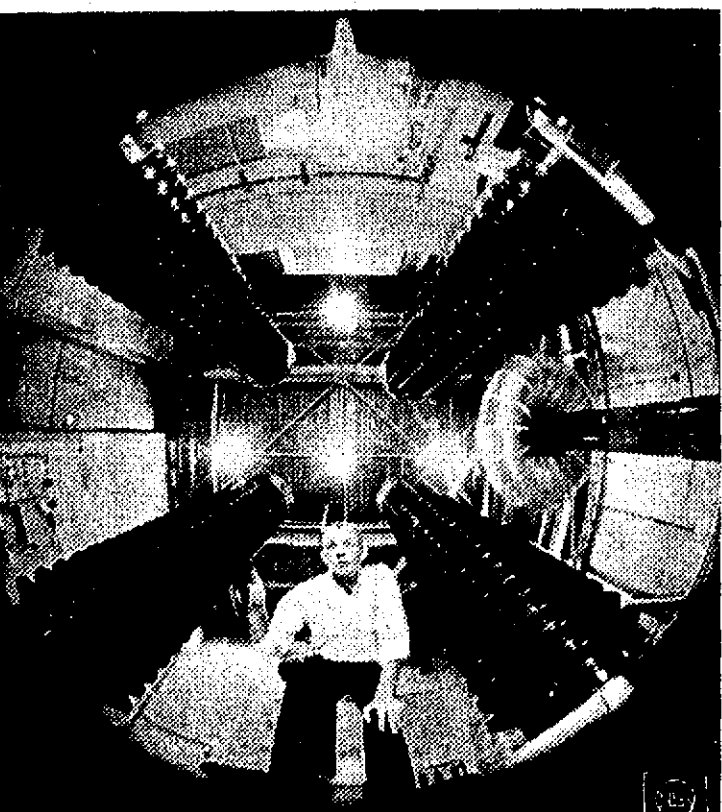

Since an army of Paul Bunyans would be needed to get logs out of some virgin timberland in western Oregon and Washington, an aerial balloon is being tried as a means of airlifting them across roadless tracts. Hovering at 500 feet, the V-balloon with a load of logs is pulled by cable to an off-loading area.

Principal advantages of the balloon, which is 162 feet long, include elimination of carving expensive roads out of timberland at costs of $30,000 per mile and reduction of damage to logs in transition from cutting areas. Yet critics in the logging game point out that the balloon costs $160,000 and has a life expectancy of only four years, and it can be used only when the weather is not turbulent. Cost and profit sheets of the one company currently using the balloon should tell the story soon.

A BIG VOICE will go out from these giant 250,000-watt transmitters beginning in January 1969, when Voice of America broadcasts will be beamed through the Bamboo Curtain of Communist Asia. The coiled tubing carries the transmissions through the transmitter's harmonic filter cubicle, which suppresses interference. Examining the transmitters is Charles J. Affelder of the U.S. Information Agency, at the Hughes Aircraft Company plant in Fullerton, Calif., where the transmitters are being built.

YESTERDAY'S SCIENCE FICTION scene is today's actuality. Floor's-eye view of king-sized coupling capacitors used in power line carrier communications for protecting high voltage transmission lines gives an illusion of unreality to this picture, taken at General Electric Company's communication products department in Lynchburg, Va.

SPEEDY AIRCATS are among the latest watercraft in the Army inventory for fighting in the shallow inland waterways of Vietnam. The small boats have an aircraft engine and propeller mounted in the rear and are capable of speeds up to 48 m.p.h. They mount a .30 caliber machine gun and can carry five infantrymen besides.

THEY CALLED HIM 'LUCKY' when Navy Corpsman Roberto Miranda of Brooklyn, N.Y., returned to the hospital, wounded a second time after two trips into combat that totaled just 15 hours. In his first action Miranda was assisting a wounded marine when a sniper shot him through the right shoulder. Less than a month later, after recuperating, the 19-year-old corpsman was back in action. Again while assisting a wounded marine, a sniper riddled his arm, again on the right side. It was stateside to a hospital this time for Miranda, where doctors would determine whether or not full use of the arm could be restored.

Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., continues to insist that cash he received from a James Hoffa attorney was for other legal work, not for any attempt to keep the former Teamster Union president out of jail. Belgian plantation owner Jean Schramme is currently leading mercenaries and Kantaga rebels against Congo President Mobutu's troops. Robert Washku is ordered to stand trial for the "mercy" killing of his mother in Chicago. Yugoslavia's President Tito comes back in the news by drifting back into the Russian fold, and working for Arab-Israeli peace plan.

All the equipment, designed for use by the Borg-Warner Corp., can be operated by the student without the teacher's assistance.

EYE REPAIR using a frozen probe is being done at the University of Michigan Hospital at Ann Arbor, Mich. The metal-tipped probe is applied to the outer surface of the eyeball as a means of treating retinal breaks and detachments—one of the newer applications of cryosurgery. Fluid at 75 degrees below zero enters the probe as it touches the eye, and the extreme cold creates an ice "rivet" on the separated retina. The rivet melts when the probe is removed, but scar tissue that develops binds the break.

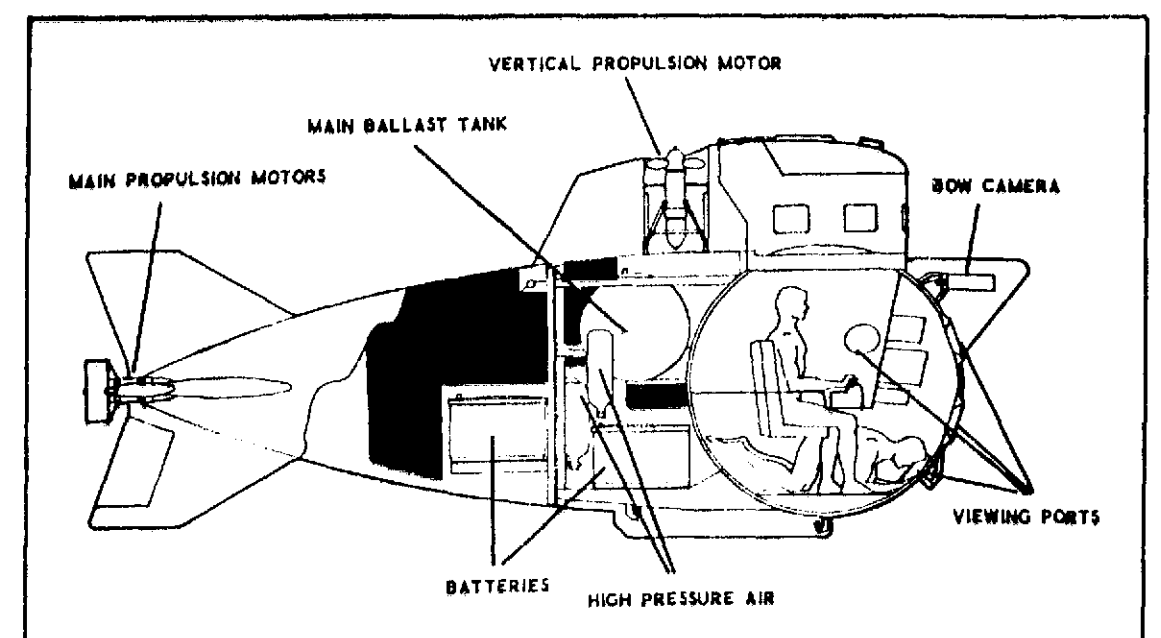

The financial toll of this nation's biggest race riot is now being tallied to some degree of accuracy, according to the figures above released by the Insurance Information Institute in New York City. The figures, which relate to insured business losses only, show $85 million in damages in insured businesses only. They do not include residential and miscellaneous damages, not to mention the loss of 43 lives. By comparison, total damages in the 1965 Watts riots amounted to $40 million, with 35 deaths. Figures on the left side of the chart indicate the number of businesses damaged or destroyed.

A deep look at the lakes is the purpose of the research submarine, first ever used in the Great Lakes, that the University of Michigan is launching in Lake Michigan. The two-man Star II, above, is designed to reach a depth of 1,200 feet (maximum lake depth is 920 feet).

Star II is 17.7 feet long and weighs 4.7 tons. Payload, 250 pounds of scientific equipment and cameras in addition to the crew, includes video-tape recording machinery permitting bottom observations to be studied on the surface. The cameras and portholes will give man his first view of the deeper parts of Lake Michigan.

One of the reasons for confusion in public thinking these days is that two authoritative but conflicting voices are being heard constantly in the press and on the air waves.

One is the voice of government in Washington. The other is the voice of the commodity and financial markets. They contradict each other.

Governmental authority says we need a 10 per cent increase in federal income taxes "to soak up private spending money and avoid inflation."

But the day-by-day report from the market place is that prices of commodities and essential services are rising more sharply this year than ever before, due to higher labor charges and reduced profits.

And the market news is explicit on one particular point: Taxes being a part of the cost of doing business any increase in taxes is certain to push prices up still further. A current example is the price schedule on 1968 automobiles now being readied for buyers. Prices will be up somewhat because of government-required safety gadgets, but the schedules are being left open for further adjustment should President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax hike become law.

Higher taxes, therefore, strike you as a politician's invention—not an honest remedy for the problem of inflation. If inflation is due to rising costs in private business then it would seem to be only common sense for the government to set a good example by reducing federal expenditures—but, this the politicians stubbornly refuse to do. They choose the easier road of multiplying the steadily depreciating dollar with higher taxes.

The situation reminds me of a classic case in private business years ago. The ailing enterprise had two factions, both of which had a flock of relatives on the payroll. Every time one faction added a relative the other faction could see no alternative but to add a relative from its side. Conditions grew steadily worse until the inevitable—a third party moved in and threw everyone out.

As you know a great big hike in postal rates is being readied by the Congress. If you think newspapers and magazines carry a big stick in fixing postal rates I have news for you—the biggest club of all is held by the bulk mailers, using the third-class rate for merchandise and so-called junk mail.

When higher rates were being studied by a House Post Office Subcommittee the panel recommended over newspaper and magazine protests that the third-class rate be increased much less than the second-class rate on which the press operates.

The subcommittee fixed the third-class increase at only 22 per cent, testimony to a powerful and effective lobby maintained by merchandisers.

But this week the top-dog Post Office Committee recognized the injustice and kicked the third-class increase up to 31 per cent, the original figure sought by the White House. Now we'll see whether the direct-by-mail merchandisers have a lobby powerful enough to upset this in the whole Congress.

Newspapers and magazines expect to pay their fair share of the Post Office bill, but neither the publications nor their subscribers appreciate being taxed for costs belonging to "junk mail."

U.S., Russia Sign Nuclear Agreement

By LEWIS GULICK
The United States and Soviet Union are considering assuring non-nuclear nations that signing a nonproliferation treaty will not leave them exposed to atomic blackmail.

The questions of a nuclear defense shield for those countries renouncing atomic weapons is a major issue connected with—but not settled by—the proposed treaty to ban the spread of nuclear arms.

U.S. strategists figure nuclear blackmail and other problems posed by atomic have-not countries will be tougher to work out in completing the proposed treaty than the differences remaining with the Soviets.

The United States and Soviet Union submitted their long-awaited joint draft of the treaty Thursday at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference. They left the treaty's inspection clause blank for the time being, mainly because of Moscow's differences with Western Europe over procedures to check for treaty violations.

President Johnson said in a White House statement that U.S.-Soviet submission of the proposed pact "brings us to the final and the most critical stage" of the long effort since World War II to curb the spread of nuclear arsenals.

U.S. officials voiced hope the 17-nation Geneva group—which is to debate the U.S.-Soviet draft and put it into final form—will make enough progress over the next couple of months to present it at the U.N. General Assembly's annual disarmament debate this fall.

At that rate of progress, the finished treaty could be ready for signing sometime next year. U.S. officials predicted more than 80 countries would sign, as they did the 1963 limited test ban treaty. Under the nonproliferation treaty, the nuclear power would agree never to give their weapons to others. The non-nuclear signers would pledge not to obtain them.

Anybody Would Like to Get This Kind of Letter But Rarely Do

NEW YORK (AP)—Letters we'd like to get but rarely do:

"Recently my associates and I acquired and modernized the famous resort, Glumville-by-the-Sea, in going over the records we noted that you and your wife were the first honeymooners to register at the opening of the resort just 25 years ago this month. To celebrate this historic anniversary we'd like you to be our guests for two weeks. Everything will be on us, naturally. Just bring along your wife and a bathing suit. If you don't have the same wife, bring any wife of your choice."

"You may have thought it was a joke to send to our art gallery the pictures which your daughter painted in kindergarten. However, the child has genius in her fingertips. She is what we class as a postcubist, preimpressionist, transcendental original modern primitive of the first water. Artists of that type are, as you may conjecture, extremely rare. We sold her first 12 paintings for $6,000. Have you any more? We strongly recommend that you keep that kid chained in kindergarten for at least five more years."

"As the fund to build a concrete wishing well on the campus of our beloved Alma Mater has already been oversubscribed, I am returning uncashed your check for $1.35. But

Under the Social Security bill passed by the House, now being considered in the Senate, some 24 million Americans receiving pensions would receive an increase in benefits, in the amount shown in various payment levels in the tables at top. Even if the bill does not pass, benefits will continue to rise slightly, due to amendments to the Social Security Act two years ago. The bottom graph shows the year-by-year increase in Social Security tax withheld for a worker making $7,600 or more per year, with the employer match-amount.

Candidate Says U.S. Has Enough Troops in Vietnam Fighting

By BARRY KRAMER
SAIGON (AP)—A South Vietnamese civilian candidate declared today that enough U.S. troops are fighting the war and no more should be sent. He said better use should be made of South Vietnamese troops.

The statement was made at a news conference called by Dr. Phan Khac Suu, speaker of South Vietnam's Constituent Assembly and one of the few presidential candidates with a widespread following, and his running mate, Dr. Phan Quang Dan. The news conference was called specifically for the foreign press. English-speaking Dan fielded the questions, with Suu nodding agreement at his side.

"There are enough troops here, but we must make better use of them, particularly the South Vietnamese troops," Dan said.

"Too many American and allied troops have overpowered the South Vietnamese army. They are tempted to just sit on the sidewalk and watch you fight the war."

There are some 457,000 American troops in South Vietnam and the number is expected to reach half a million within a few months.

Noting that there are about a million South Vietnamese and allied soldiers in the country, Dan said: "There is no need to escalate the shooting war. Let's escalate everything else, the social war, and let the Vietnamese assume the main burden as they must."

Dan also warned of an "atmosphere of suspicion" that the military candidates—Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu for president and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky for vice president—would rig the elections.

Dan said, however, that so far the election campaign has been the freest ever held in South Vietnam.

Saigon officials have announced that more than 600 persons from 41 nations will be on hand to observe the election Sept. 3 in which the voters will choose a Senate as well as a president and vice president.

There are 528 foreign news correspondents accredited to South Vietnam, and 80 others plan to be on hand for the balloting.

President Johnson is sending 20 prominent Americans here next week as observers and 48 are coming from other countries.

Soil Survey in Hempstead Is Planned

Soil Scientists of the Soil Conservation Service will begin mapping soils of Hempstead County August 28, 1967, for publication of a Soil Survey of Hempstead County. The Soil Scientists will begin with the City of Hope, then complete the entire county.

Soil survey reports contain, in addition to soil maps, general information about the agriculture and climate of the area and descriptions of each kind of soil. The report includes a discussion of the formation and classification of the soils in the area.

The following interpretation may be found in this report: land - capability interpretations, soil - woodland interpretations, rangeland interpretations, engineering uses of soils, interpretations for community planning, suitability of the soil for drainage and irrigation, and suitability of the soil for recreation and wildlife.

Much benefit should be derived from the soil interpretations. This includes the individual and the public. The individual and the public can avoid financial losses and problems by having and using soil interpretations.

The Soil Scientist will use respect for public and private property while mapping this county.

Man Held in Death of Gillham Girl

DE QUEEN, Ark. (AP)—An autopsy completed Thursday at Little Rock probably will indicate that 12-year-old Sue Vann was strangled, Pros. Atty. Joe Hardegree of Mena said Thursday night.

Hardegree said he was to receive the results of the autopsy today.

The child's body was discovered Wednesday afternoon in a dry creek bed about nine miles north of here and about six miles northeast of her farm home near Gillham (Sevier County), where she lived with her mother, Mrs. Coleman Vann, and four brothers. She had been missing since Aug. 15.

Sevier County Sheriff Louis Hilton said Winston Randolph Blair, 19, of Wickes (Polk County), who is charged with the $34 robbery and shooting Monday of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Cotman of Texarkana, had led him to the body.

Blair was being held for questioning in the case. Hilton said the girl, whose blouse was torn, apparently had put up a struggle.

"The circumstances at the scene indicate a violent death occurred at that spot," Hardegree said.

Hilton said he had questioned Blair at Texarkana because he had been seen here the day the girl disappeared.

The sheriff said Blair told him he had seen the child sitting beneath a tree Friday or Saturday, and that he had agreed to take him to the spot.

They located the tree in a heavily wooded area about two miles from the nearest paved road after taking several gravel roads and a trail almost impassable for automobiles, the sheriff said. The body was about 50 yards away.

Hilton said the girl had left her home during the morning to visit a friend who lived about a quarter-mile away. She was last seen walking with her small dog on a road toward a hilltop store about halfway between her house and her friend's home, he said. The dog later showed up alone at the store, which was visible from the girl's home.

The sheriff said searchers had come close to the creek bed during their hunt for the girl.

Gillham residents and others had raised more than $2,000 for information on the girl's whereabouts.

Cotman, 74, was seriously wounded in the shooting Monday. His 58-year-old wife was hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

Plane Lost in Attack on Railway

SAIGON (AP)—American warplanes drove deep into North Vietnam Thursday, bombing rail and military targets within 18 miles of Red China but losing another F105 Thunderchief jet to Red ground fire, the U.S. Command said today.

The Thunderchief was the 13th American jet reported downed in the air war against North Vietnam this week—one of the grimmest of the year for American fliers—and the 660th U.S. combat plane reported lost striking North Vietnam. The pilot was listed as missing in action, bringing the week's loss so far to 19 fliers missing with three rescued by helicopters.

Although no major ground action was reported in South Vietnam, the U.S. Command said at least 150 Communist troops were killed in scattered fighting, and police in Saigon disclosed the arrest of a Red terror cell of two men and three women. They were rounded up in the continuing police pressure to thwart Red attempts to disrupt the Sept. 3 presidential elections now nine days away.

U.S. headquarters reported that despite thunderstorms over much of North Vietnam, Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots flew 152 missions Thursday. Although some pilots reported Communist MIGs skirting the edge of American formations, there were no dogfights, and the pilots said the Reds also fired fewer of the Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles than they threw up during raids on the Hanoi area earlier this week.

Returning pilots said the rail yards above Hanoi remained filled with boxcars unable to move south because the only rail bridges across the Red River at Hanoi have been dropped by bombing.

Pilots said there were almost 200 pieces of rolling stock in four yards hit Thursday and most of these were shot up, bombed or rocketed. But smoke and flames prevented precise damage reports.

The deepest strikes reported were against a rail yard just 18 miles below the Chinese border and the second raid of the week on North Vietnam's chief naval base at Port Walut, 30 miles below the frontier.

Wants Report on Prison Re-written

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Legislative Council directed Thursday that its report on a tour of the Arkansas Prison System be rewritten and combined with a report from its Committee on Charitable, Penal and Correctional Institutions.

Both reports were to have been presented to the Council Thursday, but state Rep. Marion H. Crank of Foreman said a 32-page report on the committee's tour of prisons in Louisiana, Colorado and Missouri was incomplete and probably wouldn't be ready until the council met in September.

Crank said that in light of the observations in the council's report seemed to him to be "naive."

The council report, based on the assessments of 25 members who toured Cummins and Tucker prison farms in July, was severely critical of Thomas W. Murton, assistant state superintendent in charge of Tucker. It only criticism of Cummins, operated by state Prison Sup. O. E. Bishop, was that the crops in its fields were "not as clean as they should be."
